“Involvement in campus organizations shows that students are engaged and plugged into fields of their interest, which looks great on a resume.

Relationships from those groups become a network that can lead to professional opportunities in the future.”

TCU

Ad Association

The TCU Ad Association is an organization looking to be a resource to all students in the fields of advertising, public relations, marketing and many more.

The Ad Association seeks to help students prepare for graduation by enhancing their resumes and interview skills, introducing them to professionals, giving students the ability to network and teaching them about the jobs available in the trade.

The Ad Association is affiliated with the American Advertising Federation. There is also a Fort Worth chapter of AAF, AAF-Fort Worth, and a Dallas Chapter, the Dallas Ad League, which members can attend at a discounted rate.

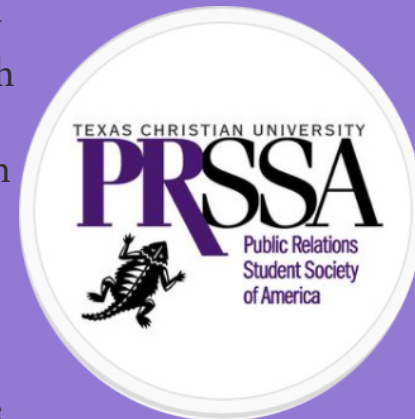

For more information contact one of our faculty sponsors, Dr. Catherine Coleman and Dr. Penny Kwon.

TCU

PRSSA

The Public Relations Student Society of America (PRSSA) is aimed at enriching the college experience by providing real-world experiences such as job shadows and agency visits. Our on-campus chapter of PRSSA provides an opportunity to network with speakers and visit agencies in the DFW area.

TCU's PRSSA chapter meets throughout the semester to plan events and host guest speakers.

For more information, visit the chapter's Instagram at @tcuprssa or contact chapter sponsor Dr. Amiso George.
